Young MBSA has launched a new project under the title “...in context”. The project is aimed at establishment of a discussion forum for sharing of opinions of social events in wider context in cooperation with partner organizations.

Increase of knowledge in particular fields or human activities gradually leads to more limited perception of social phenomena within boundaries of respective cultures, religions, fields of science or human activities. Ability to perceive certain social phenomena in wider relationships and context with a perspective may enrich people’s opinions and bring into the corporate or social decision-making processes greater feeling for taking into account and balancing social interests, mutual understanding, stability and consolidation of tolerance.
